Dear Ms. Guderman:

I am writing to commend Adriana De Aguiar. As part of a project for CrossCultures, Ms. De Aguiar came to our office, the International Trade Division of the Indiana Department of Commerce, to interview and film our staff members in their work environment. In addition, from these interviews, she produced a piece we were able to use for an in-house program which Lt. Governor Frank O'Bannon attended. The video was extremely well received. She did an outstanding job.

On behalf of the entire division, I would like to thank her for her hard work. If there is anything we can do in return, please let me know.

Sincerely,

Irene Sosniak

Subject: Appreciation for Outstanding Work-Adriana DeAguiar

I wanted to advise you of the excellent work Adriana DeAguiar did in producing this year's open enrollment benefit videotape. Her efforts truly made the finished product possible. She assisted in editing the graphics, directed the videotaping and combined the graphics expertly with the video. She accomplished all of this within a very short period of time while working on her other regular responsibilities. Through her perseverance and dedication the videotape was ready on time and extremely helpful in our overall benefit presentations. Her desire to produce the best possible product was noteworthy. I wanted you to know about her efforts and to thank her for a job well done!

RE: Outstanding Performance

Hi Ken! I just wanted to send you a note regarding one of your outstanding employees. I had the opportunity to work directly with Adriana DeAguiar this year as we prepared the City-County Insurance Show 98. Terry Nelson, of City Human Resources, had always coordinated the creation of the tape in the past. However, this year I was directly involved as we decided that Terry and I would 'cohost the show.' Adriana was great. She was organized, dedicated to meeting our deadlines and very patient in teaching two rookies how to go on camera. We had told Adriana that we were putting our reputations in her hands since all the other City and County employees would see the results of our work. She held true to her word....we did fine. In addition, she handled the addition of yet another dental option to the overall program.

Adriana did a super job. The Insurance Show 98 was so well received in the County that I have ten agencies which have agreed to use the tape as part of their new hire orientations. (I'll be sending a request for copies as soon as I get the tapes in my possession.)

Hats off in appreciation to Adriana! Have a wonderful Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Dear Angie,

Thank you for your tremendous efforts in creating a featured video for Keep Indianapolis Beautiful's Donor Recognition Luncheon. The video has received so many positive comments!

The video displayed your creative ability used to capture the efforts of so many volunteer partners helping to Keep Indianapolis Beautiful. We realize how much time and effort are needed to produce such a fantastic piece.

Again, Angie, thank you for your hardwork. The video truly reflects your outstanding abilities as a producer and editor.

 INDIANAPOLIS CITY MARKET

RE: CITY MARKET VIDEO

I thought it would be appropriate to let you know how pleased I am with the new City Market video, "A Small Town in a City", which was produced by Ken Montgomery of your technical staff. The whole project, from beginning to end, was very professionally done by Ken and his entire crew. Ken did extensive historical research for this video and his thoroughness and attention to detail in gathering news accounts and pictures of the Market's early history were quite evident. Kudos to Ken and his staff for a marvelous production!

Needless to say, the City Market could never have afforded to produce "A Small Town in a City" using its own financial resources. I'm very appreciative to you for allowing the entire Channel 16 staff to put forth the time, effort and technical expertise to produce this wonderful historical look at one of the City's historic icons. Early indications are that it will be an extremely popular video that should generate considerable interest in the continued resurgence of the City Market.

I believe Ken may have mentioned to you that we plan on selling copies of this video to the general public. Proceeds from these sales will go into the general operating fund of the City Market and will be earmarked for making needed repairs to the historic Main Building. If you have a concern with this, please let me know as soon as possible so that we may plan an alternative strategy.

Thanks again for your assistance on this project.

Media Advisory—For Immediate Release

Channel 16 Producer Alan Dhayer Wins CASPER Award

The United Way of Central Indiana today honored WCTY/Channel 16 producer Alan Dhayer as a recipient of a CASPER Award. The CASPER Awards were presented to area newspaper, television and radio staff and to not-for-profit community organizations and local business firms for "outstanding interpretation of human services or problems in central Indiana." The award is intended to single out and honor central Indiana news media for outstanding examples of media reporting on human service issues, problems or resources. Alan Dhayer and WCTY/Channel 16 were one of only two television outlets recognized in this year's awards.

Dhayer was awarded a CASPER for his video documentary entitled Crackback: One Neighborhood at a Time. The half hour program was produced in cooperation with the Office of Marion County Prosecutor Scott Newman, and first aired on Channel 16 in July of 1998. The hard hitting Crackback video describes the growing crack cocaine epidemic in Indianapolis and Marion County, and offers neighborhood groups and individuals concrete ways to combat the growing urban problem.

The CASPER judges noted that "this was a truly creative self initiated public service broadcast effort which offered realistic solutions to neighborhood organizations, first producing an in-depth video examination of the crack cocaine epidemic in many neighborhoods, then using this video in a well thought out successful collaboration with the Prosecutor's office." 750 free copies of the video were distributed to neighborhood and civic groups, and resulted in numerous new Crime Watch block clubs being launched.

WCTY/Channel 16, government access television for Indianapolis and Marion County is carried by both Time-Warner and Comcast Cablevision systems.

Dear Mr. Dhayer:

Yes, I got the tapes you sent. Thank you so much!! I was planning on writing you a thank you letter, so hopefully this will do. I've watched the one from Saturday night when I gave my speech. The quality of your filming is outstanding. We will keep all of these tapes in our video library and will utilize them from time to time for various purposes. I may show parts of them at an upcoming all-staff meeting, and we may use the MADD history workshop tape when we do orientations for new Board members and new employees.

Thank you again so much for your thoughtfulness in following up on my request. MADD very much appreciates the support of you and your station. As I mentioned in my speech, strong support from friends in the media like you has been a key reason that MADD has been successful and we have seen such dramatic progress in our mission.

Video Wins Award, Pays The Bills

When Adriana De Aguiar and Angela E. Gilmer, senior producers at WCTY Channel 16 Indianapolis, won a 1997 Silver Telly Award for a video they co-produced entitled "The Athenaeum... Then and Now." They were grateful and happy, but not as happy as they were when they saw what their video meant to their subject.

The video documents the history and cultural importance of the Athenaeum building in Indianapolis. It ran on WCTY to help raise money for the Athenaeum's upkeep, and it did just that. "It paid off the mortgage," adds Gilmer.

A Sony EVW 300 Hi-8 camera was used to get video of the building, and the video and old still pictures were assembled into the final product using a Sony FXE editor.

One of the tricks to making the video successful, according to Gilmer, was appropriate editing. "Too many bells and whistles, especially in a documentary, can be bad," she explains. "Less is more works."

The video focuses heavily on the experiences of German immigrants in Indianapolis, and Gilmer says she and De Aguiar both brought something unique to the project. "I came in with a different perspective than Adriana did because I'm a fourth-generation descendant while she is from Brazil, so we both had different feelings for the building."

For more information on the video, contact WCTY at (317) 327-2021 or email at cable@inedirect.net.

Cinebase Helps NIMA Users Navigate Faster

Cinebase Software has been selected by the National Imagery and Mapping Agency to help NIMA employees and users more accurately and quickly gather the mapping information they desire.

Cinebase Software, based in Sherman Oaks, California, is a software provider of asset management systems which enable users view, distribute, and manipulate a broad range of digital media assets. It can run on SGI, Macintosh, and PCs with Windows 95/NT. All key file formats, such as TIFF, PICT, MPEG, JPEG, Photoshop, QuickTime, and Avid OMF AVR, are supported, and Cinebase software also provides facilities for file format conversion.

The Cinebase Software, which

Rick Maultra
Director
Cable Communications Agency
City County Building
200 East Washington Street #G19
Indianapolis, IN 46204

Dear Rick:

I'm writing to tell you of my concerns associated with the potential elimination of local cable franchising, and the effect it could have on WCTY, the City of Indianapolis' public access television station.

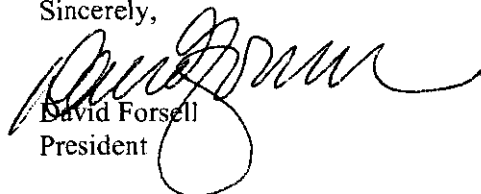

WCTY has been a tremendous partner to Keep Indianapolis Beautiful, Inc. (KIB), a charitable organization uniting people to beautify the city, to improve its environment, and to foster pride in Indianapolis. KIB has a thirty year tradition of working with thousands of volunteers a year to keep neighborhoods, streets and byways clean and green; to provide excellent service learning opportunities for youth; and more.

Our mission is supported by the City of Indianapolis through a contractual services agreement. The City of Indianapolis has demonstrated in its actions, as well as its dollars, that it values our community work.

WCTY has given studio and air time to KIB for television programs educating residents about KIB's programs that help residents invest in their neighborhoods. It has provided valuable production time at no charge to KIB, so it could create videos to help educate, encourage and involve residents in KIB's work. These air and production services would cost KIB thousands of dollars annually if it had to work with a private company for these services. Needless to say, our ability to reach out to the community, and its ability to involve itself in improving Indianapolis would be greatly diminished if WCTY's services were no longer available. WCTY makes a unique and valuable contribution to its community by supporting KIB.

Please call me if you'd like to further discuss WCTY's partnership with Keep Indianapolis Beautiful, Inc.

Sincerely,

David Forsell

Dear Mr. Maultra,

This is to bring to your attention the efforts of WCTY-16 staff this past year, namely Station Manager Ken Montgomery, Angie Gilmer, Bradley Sims and Alan Dhayer. They have been involved in numerous projects I had the pleasure of working on during 2005 involving various City-County government agencies, public safety and good government related topics.

Angie Gilmer has been an invaluable asset to the Marion Superior Court with its "Off the Bench" program that airs regularly on Government TV-2. Angie was instrumental in working with me to develop the creative concept for the program and developing topics to educate the public about Marion County's criminal and civil court system, and the numerous public-safety related agencies that interact with the Courts. She has become a valued advisor to the Courts and myself on public education topics.

In October 2005, Bradley Sims helped cover the daylong Howey Political Report annual conference that brought together such notables as Governor Mitch Daniels, Chief Justice Randall Shepard, House Speaker Brian Bosma, Mayor Bart Peterson and many others to discuss how Indiana government, both local and state, can best serve the needs of the public in the 21st century.

In November 2005, Alan Dhayer assisted with covering an important public program launch at Shortridge Middle School involving Marion County Prosecutor Carl Brizzi, along with US Attorney Susan Brooks and Indiana Superintendent of Public Instruction Suellen Reed. The program, Educating Kids About Gun Violence (EKG), was launched before a student and educator convocation at Shortridge. EKG is a school-based, gun violence prevention program that teaches students about choices and consequences involving firearms.

WCTY-16 Station Manager Ken Montgomery is always a professional delight to work with. He has given invaluable feedback for the development of the Courts' program and is always responsive and helpful with managing our studio time and the scheduling of programs.

On behalf of the various organizations and agencies I represent, including the Superior Court of Marion County and the Marion County Prosecutor's Office, we are grateful to the Cable Communications Agency and the entire WCTY-16/Government TV-2 staff for their efforts to inform and educate the public about its government.

Sincerely,

Beverly Phillips

Dear Rick,

For over 20 years, I have had the opportunity to serve as the host of "Focus on Health" on Channel 16. The show has served as an excellent tool for getting information out on health issues in Marion County. Many guest, especially physicians, whom I have interviewed, tell me they like the format because it allows them to adequately tell all the information about the subject, rather than a just a small part. There is rarely a day that goes by that someone doesn't compliment me on the show and tell me how much they appreciate the information.

I have also had the opportunity to host other shows that specifically targeted the minority population that discussed issues that normally wouldn't have been broadcast at great lengths on other venues. A number of panel discussions have been held on subjects such as HIV/AIDS, breast cancer and other health related subjects.

The show first organized to reveal and promote the programs of the Marion County Health Department and the Health & Hospital Corporation, expanded to include health issues of the community and to showcase how the health department works with other agencies.

I feel our collaborative efforts through Channel 16 provides an excellent source of information to the public, that otherwise wouldn't be available.

It is with great pleasure that I inform you that WCTY Channel 16 has been selected as the U.S. Small Business Administration's 1999 Media Advocate of the Year for the State of Indiana. Your nomination was submitted by Ms. Mindy McIntire, Indiana Small Business Development Corporation (ISBD Corp), Indianapolis, Indiana.

As winner of this prestigious award, you and a guest are cordially invited to attend the SBA Awards Dinner on Thursday evening, June 3, 1999. The dinner will be held at the Indiana Roof Ballroom in downtown Indianapolis. Additional information about the dinner will be forthcoming. Please mark your calendar and plan to attend to receive recognition as the Indiana District winner. It would be most appreciated if you would call Carol Burgess at (317) 226-7275, by May 14, 1999, to confirm your attendance and the name of your guest.

Ms. Jan Alexander of the Indiana Small Business Development Center will be contacting you to schedule a taping segment to be shown at the dinner. Additionally, our Public Information Officer, Mr. Darrell Mowery, will be contacting you to coordinate the press coverage of this award.

Again, congratulations! I look forward to celebrating this honor with you at the SBA Awards Dinner. If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me at (317) 226-7275.

Each year Special Agents and support employees of the Federal Bureau of Investigation are transferred to or relocate to the Indianapolis Division and most are unfamiliar with the fine City of Indianapolis. The Training Unit of this office is of the opinion that having a copy of "Visitor's Tour Guide" would be a great asset and very beneficial to the new employees assigned to Indianapolis. Dear ~~Rick~~ Rick Maultra:

Your video documentary of Fort Harrison's history has created a sensation here at the post. Numerous people here have discussed it with me. Some are taping it when it reruns to send it on to other people.

GREAT job !!! I am speaking having been in the business myself. Good public affairs programming is a lost art in television today. Your use of a varied video devices with an easy narration style is most effective. As I watched the show, I found myself lost in the faces, scenes and events depicted ... now long gone. I have worked here in the public affairs business for years but never have seen many of the photographs and video your found.

You have created the definitive history on videotape of Fort Benjamin Harrison. It will not ever be the same again. Indeed, substantial changes will occur beginning in 20 months or so. This videotape will help the memory live on.

I hope we have the opportunity to work together again. We certainly appreciate the very good working relationship between your organization and ours. It was fun to work with you on this one.

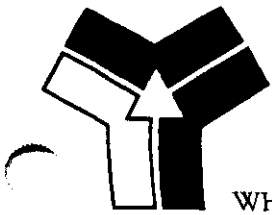

With best personal wishes.

Dear Sir:

Enclosed is a video tape and ten dollars cash for a copy of "A Visitors Town Guide to Indianapolis".

This tape is being sent to France to an internationally known architect who will visit the city in May. We wish to brief him about what Indianapolis is like.

Thank you for your quick cooperation in making this video available to us.

Sincerely yours

Muriel Anderson Anderson

Dear Mr. Moltra:

Father James Barton would appreciate a copy of each of the ethnic tapes--Irish, Italian, German, Slavic--and the one on the Indianapolis mayors.

The tapes would be of great value here at the Catholic Center because of the allusions to the Catholic churches and other points of significance concerning Catholicism here in Indianapolis.

Thank you for taking care of this for us. You did a fine job of filming these.

Sincerely yours,

Sister Marian Kinney

Dear Rick:

Per our conversation, I have enclosed a high quality video tape for the reproduction of the program you have produced called "Indianapolis' African American Community--Hoosier History Series".

The Stanley K. Lacy Alumni have begun a project targeted to look at race relations in this city with the hope that eventually we will have a product that can improve race relations. We are beginning by researching the past.

It is felt that your program regarding the African American Community can give us additional insight. We appreciate the efforts of those at TV 16 to continually enlighten the citizens of our community.

Sincerely,

Suzette Brown
